TWELVE CARS OF COAL ON WAY TO MAYSVILLE

Several days ago Mr. J. Barbour Russell wrote a letter to Mr. C. A. Leeman, division superintendent of the C. & O., at Ashland, telling him that if no coal was in transit to Maysville, to ship five car loads at once and charge them to the M. C. Russell Co. Mr. Russell received word from Mr. Leeman yesterday that twelve cars had been shipped from the mines to Maysville and would arrive here in a few days.

them from it why is it not equally bad for the boys at home and why should we not be trying harder to protect them. Mr. Barker offered the resolution that the legislature be asked to submit vote on the Prohibition Amendment in March 1918. He also offered the resolution that we try in every way to bring about a better observance of the Sabbath. Owing to the lateness of the hour Rev. Walte's address was postponed until afternoon the delegates assembling at 1 o'clock to hear him on the subject, "Four in One." He said that the spiritual life was fourfold, when we emphasize the spiritual and neglect the physical and social sides of the pupils' nature we will not develop a well-rounded spiritual life.

Conference on the various phases of Sunday School work took the place of the general convention session in the afternoon. Helpful and interesting suggestions were given. At the Elementary Conference the importance of the trained teacher was emphasized and suggestions made as to how a teacher could better fit herself for her work. There was a fine exhibition of hand-work and many helpful devices.

One of the especially good things at the Secondary Conference was the address by Mr. Welch of Newport the President of the Campbell County Association, whose untiring efforts have placed his county among the first in Sunday School work. Mr. Welch said that for twenty-three years he had been traveling over the state as a business man and that his chief concern had been to keep away from things spiritual but a few years ago he became interested in the Sunday School work and now the wonder to him was how any man could stay out of the Sunday School. As yet scribbles has not yet learned to be in more than two places at once it is not possible for us to give any information about the third conference.

People who think that Sunday School folks don't have any fun should have been at the N. E. Church last night. One of the features to which all look forward with eager anticipation is the officers' supper. This is given by the State Association as a complement to the faithful county and district officers. The Sunday School room had been transformed into a hall of beauty with its decorations of autumn leaves and the baskets of gorgeous dahlias on the tables. After the long auto-ride all were ready to do justice to the good things which the ladies had prepared. To say that the ladies' supper was the toast-master renders it unnecessary to state that there was not a dull moment. Toasts were proposed to the family and its various members, the family of course being the county organization. At each plate was an attractive place-card in the shape of a tree bearing the title "Our Family Tree." The branches and twigs represented the various members of the family, while the leaves and fruit which hung upon them were found upon close inspection to be the buttons representing the various departments. Would that time and space permitted the giving of all the toasts in detail and that it were possible to reproduce in cold type the manner and expression of the toasts. The names of speakers and subjects will have to suffice.

Father (President) — Rev. A. F. Stahl.
Mother (Vice President) — Miss Frances Grigsby.
Uncle (Secretary) — Rev. George A. Joplin.
Aunt (Assistant Secretary) — Mrs. Gray.
Grandfather (Organization) — Rev. Price.
Grandmother (Home Department) — Not able to be present.
Baby (Elementary) — Stayed at home with Grandmother.
Big Brother (Adult Class) — Mr. Gebauer.
Big Sister (Education) — Miss Clara Back.
Little Brother (Temperance) — Not present.
Little Sister (Missionary) — Miss Maude Sehon.
The Twiss (Secondary) — Mr. Vaughan and Miss Mary Wilson.
The Whole Family (County Association) — Rev. R. A. Walte.

Rev. Stahl led the evening devotion-al service. The High School Glee Club sang several selections. Those High School boys and girls have been a great help in the convention. Prof. Roper and Rev. Walte who were present at the morning exercises at the school and who played and spoke for the students said they never had a finer time in their lives. They said our boys and girls were great. We've always known that but we like to hear other folks say so.

Dr. Banks of Winchester was the first speaker of the evening. He said that preaching has two elements—the inspirational and the teaching. The inspirational is to provoke people to desire to do and to have the thing which you do and have. But their is no use inspiring folks to do things unless you teach them how.

Of the many fine musical numbers rendered during the convention none was more enjoyable than the quartet by the Baraca Class of the Baptist Church.

A telegram of greeting from the Maryland Sunday School Association was read. The Secretary of the Maryland Association, Rev. M. H. Ferguson married the former Secretary of the Kentucky Association, Miss Mamie Huber. The convention voted to send an answering telegram to the Maryland Convention which is holding its sessions at this time.

In his last address before the convention Rev. Walte spoke of the great task which had just been entrusted to the Sunday School, the conducting of a Bible Class in every company of soldiers in the camps. It is a big undertaking and like all of the other great movements, Red Cross, Food Conservation, Y. M. C. A. and Belgian Relief, it will take money. $20,000 is needed and Kentucky's share is $800. The other organizations have had no trouble in getting their amounts. Will the Sunday School get her's. From the enthusiastic response to his appeal we think Rev. Walte was right when he said "We Will."

Although not so largely attended as other conventions it has been a most successful one. It has been a great privilege to have these splendid men and women in our midst and we hope they will not wait thirty-eight years to come again. Prof. Roper said at the close of the convention that of all the plans on which he had played in the years he has been traveling, he had never played on one better than the one furnished by our local firm Melvin, Knox & Diener. This plan is for sale and the Professor says who ever buys it will get a good one.

Report of Resolution Committee:
The committee on resolutions endorsed the recommendations made by the general secretary in his report with the exception of the thirteenth recommending the holding of the next convention in two sections—east and west. MILITANT DEMOCRACY

There is no such thing as democratic militarism, because democracies are never militaristic. Civilized nations that are free instinctively seek peace. But militant democracy is a different matter. Every democracy that amounts to a hill of beans becomes militant when its life is imperilled or its rights are assailed. The United States today exhibits at the same time more democracy and more militancy than it ever did in its life before. And both of these fine characteristics are illustrated at their best in the army encampments.

To those who in the past have preached any of the various gospels of class hatred, the spirit of the training camps is a wholesome revelation. Men of all classes, all social ranks, there seem to find themselves merged in one homogeneous type—the American. Corners are rubbed off, prejudices disappear, fancied wrongs fade. The soldiers mix, and find themselves wondrously alike in the big things that count, in their ways of looking at life, in their ideals and purposes. The rich and the entured find it easier than they expected to mingle with common men on equal terms. Those of humble place and small learning find no such gap as they imagined between themselves and others. Most surprising of all, our immigrant citizens discover that they really "belong."

And having discovered it, they do not hesitate to declare it. Some of the most effective work in behalf of the Second Liberty Loan has been accomplished by "soap box" orators from the encampments. They are naturalized citizens, for the most part, who, with the inspiration of a month of American army, come back to tell their "foreign" brethren that this is in reality the promised land of their dreams. They explain that the selective service, so much feared, is the salvation of their hopes; that the American army itself is a living example of what it is fighting for—world democracy.

THE FARMER'S MONEY

What is the American farmer doing for the Liberty Loan? When the first loan was put out, he was busy with his crops and short of money. Now he has marketed much of his production and is in process of selling the rest. His profits are rolling in on an unprecedented scale. Is he going to "salt them down" in the form of unproductive and non-patriotic savings, in the bureau drawer or the bank, or is he going to share them loyally and profitably with the rest of the nation?

In 1900 the total value of American farm crops was about $5,000,000,000. This year it is estimated at somewhere near $15,000,000,000, enough in itself to pay our war bills for the year. The farmers cannot pay it all for Liberty Bonds, of course. And nobody wants them to. But they are naturally expected to do their part. And their part should be a big one, because of all important classes of Americans they are benefitting most by war conditions. They have good crops, they get good prices, they are obliged to pay out less of their income than the rest of us for high-priced necessities of life. They can save most.

Kansas reported recently that it has $46,000,000 more in its national banks than it had last year. How much of that is going into Liberty Bonds? The South, which used to regard a billion-dollar cotton crop as a dream of supreme felicity, will get nearly $2,000,000,000 for its crop this year. How much of that will go into Liberty Bonds?

This war is being fought for the farmer as much as for the manufacturer, the merchant, the professional man, the factory worker. Is he bearing his share of the burden? Or has he lost his old idealism? The nation expects him to do his part—and it should be a big part.

BOND FATE MAY REST IN FARMER HANDS

Slow Sales in The Cities May Make It Necessary to Call Him to The Rescue

Cleveland, O.—Special.—The farmer came nobly to the rescue in the food crisis last spring. He will have to come to the rescue again, quickly and substantially, if the Second Liberty Loan is to have the big over-subscription that had been hoped for it. So far in every district the city subscriptions have been coming slower than had been expected. Whether the late rush, that always features a sale like this, will be sufficiently strong to make up for the early tardiness remains to be seen.

In the first bond drive the farmer failed signally in meeting expectations. There were two chief reasons for this. He wasn't at all sure then how his crops would turn out, for the weather conditions were unpromising and he was short handed. Then he wasn't solicited as were his brothers in the city. Where he subscribed to the bond he was from a feeling of patriotism purely and simply. He hunted up his banker and placed his order and went back to the fields.

This time it will be different. Throughout the Fourth Federal Reserve district every county has its organization, planning to make the farmer to farm canvases, up just as extensive and careful a scale as is being done in the cities. No farmer may offer as an excuse that he was not approached. And in no district in all the country is the farmer in better financial condition to respond. Crops have not been better this year. Prices have not been so high since the civil war.

Ohio farmers will be called upon to hear the greater portion of the burden for the craft. The Pennsylvania and West Virginia counties in the district are not particularly strong in an agricultural way. Their principal products are coal, oil, lumber and manufacturing. The Kentucky territory, for the main part, is but lightly populated, yet the farmers in that section have done better this year than in the last two decades. And early reports indicate that they are responding well to Uncle Sam's call.

Here are some of the reasons why the Ohio farmer should subscribe liberally, and in considering them one should not overlook the fact that this is an exceptional year, crops and prices are at the top mark, and the figures offered are those of seven years ago.

Ohio in 1910 had 24,106,708 acres of farm land, of which 19,227,969 acres were under cultivation; total value $1,902,694,589. This is approximately one-twentieth of the entire farm value of the United States. Ohio has 27,045 farms, of whom 192,104 were actual owners, the rest being either managers or tenant-farmers. The average value of farm lands then was $53.34 an acre.

Complete figures upon the value of farm products are not obtainable, but those applying to the chief farm products are interesting. Ohio produced in 1909, 157,513,300 bushels of corn, worth $83,327,269, at an average price of 53 cents a bushel. Today the price is around $2 a bushel. The potato production totaled 25,322,984 bushels, worth $3,277,756, at an average price of 55 cents a bushel. Potatoes this fall will bring close to $2 a bushel. Oats brought the farmer $23.212,352 for a production of 57,501,046 bushels, at 41 cents a bushel. Present price 87 cents. Wheat represented $21,112,975 for 30,663,704 bushels, at 68 cents a bushel. This year it will bring at least $2.20 a bushel.

In addition to these items Ohio looms large in the raising of livestock and poultry. With a livestock valuation of $197,332,112, in 1909, Ohio was surpassed only by Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Texas. And with poultry products valued at approximately $29,000,000, Ohio gave place only to Iowa, Illinois and Missouri.

Farm production this year will surpass in 11 of these lines, save perhaps the figures of 1916. And in valuation there is really no comparison. In most cases prices have doubled. The answer to this is that the farmer is better off financially today than he has been in years; he is better able to buy a Liberty Bond and aid Uncle Sam in putting an early end to this war. And he will be asked to do it. He will have no alibi if he fails to respond.

BISHOP FARRELLY ON LIBERTY BONDS

Bishop Farrelly of the Cleveland diocese made the following statement when interviewed regarding the Second Liberty Loan of 1917:

"This bond issue campaign resolves itself largely into a question of self-defense. The very reason we are in the war is the reason why we should purchase the Liberty Bonds, that is, for self-defense and the principle of democracy. Surely every citizen can help in the name of this cause."

"Members of the Catholic Church should be foremost in giving their help at this time, as none are in a better position to appreciate the privileges of the United States government. The enthusiastic rally to the flag, following the first call for volunteers, should be enough to incite us and to make us realize that we should be doing something to meet the war needs of our country. Realizing what should be done, we should act now and buy the bonds."

"After all it is a matter of conscience. Every man should know in his own mind whether he has done as well as he can for Liberty as he can afford. If we all do this, the loan will be a big success, and this I most sincerely hope for."

PLAN BIG TIDE

To Free 200 Barges—Wave Will Release 2,500,000 Bushels of Coal—Crest of Wave Will Probably Pass Here Saturday—Local Coal Situation Expected to Be Relieved.

A dispatch from Point Pleasant, W. Va., says that an artificial rise in the Ohio river, announced by United States engineers here as the largest wave yet produced and which will carry down approximately 2,500,000 bushels of coal, will be developed Thursday. The wave is expected to release about 200 barges of coal now in the Kanawha river. The coal is expected to be of considerable use in relieving the shortage in southern Ohio.

The crest of the wave, it was announced here tonight, will pass the mouth of the Kanawha river Friday afternoon. All of the coal companies along the river are preparing for the artificial rise. All pools from Dam 7, thirty-six miles below Pittsburgh to the last completed dam at Ashland will be drained to a level three or four feet below the normal stage. The Kanawha, Muskingum and Big Sandy rivers will be called upon to furnish their quota of water.

It is expected that several barges of this coal will be left here, relieving the serious shortage somewhat.

WOULD CONNECT CHICAGO WITH NEW YORK

The Type Used in One Year to Publish Endorsements of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Forty thousand benefited people gladly testify in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 40,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Mayville sufferer who was relieved from kidney and bladder ills. Here's Mayville case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

John J. Bramel, bookkeeper, Walnut street, Mayville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been of great benefit to me and in fact, I attribute fourteen years of my life to them. It was in 1902 that I was suffering a great deal. After long use of Doan's Kidney Pills, I became well and had no effect for many years. Recently, however, I noticed my kidneys were not acting right and my system was generally weak. I knew it was a return of the trouble and I didn't lose any time in getting a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Chaslor's Drug Store. They again gave me the same good results and I consider them a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Bramel is only one of many Mayville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply seek for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mr. Bramel had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60c all stores. CAN WE BEAR THE BURDEN?

The sale of such vast amounts of government bonds naturally has given rise to questions as to where all the money to buy these bonds is coming from, and can the country bear the burden that the government is asking it to assume. Large government bond issues are unusual in this country. For the most part the federal government has paid its way from taxes, and these have been so modest as to give the people little concern. However, the obligation of the war has radically changed the financial situation of the government. The country must now assume a financial burden of such enormous proportions as to be almost beyond comprehension.

Are the resources of the country sufficient to stand the strain? Before the war Great Britain, with total resources of about $84,000,000,000, a little over one-third our resources, had a national debt of approximately $3,500,000,000. Since then her debt has increased to $17,336,000,000. If our debt bore a like proportion to our resources, we would now owe $45,000,000,000. What Great Britain is doing we can do. The people of Great Britain are no more patriotic than the people of the United States.

In spite of their carelessness, the savings of the people of the United States are enormous, and under the stimulus of war necessities their earnings will be increased sufficiently to take care of a large part of the war burden. Bear this in mind and keep it before you every day until the war ends; that there is no price too great to pay for freedom. Every decent instinct that we have, loyalty, sympathy, the desire to prosper, and the desire to live well and happily, should prompt us to share the country's financial burden to the utmost of our ability. The government now asks us to help by buying Liberty Bonds, and the people of the United States are going to respond to that request with the finest show of patriotism that the world has ever seen.

JIM DALE

By Ellis Parker Butler
of the Vigilantes

Young Jimmy Dale, across our street,
Is just a gawky lad;
He grew so fast, the doctors said,
His heart was mighty bad.

They wouldn't let him do much work
Or any heavy play;
But, just the same, they drafted Jim,
And Jim has gone away.

Jim was a sort of great, big kid,
And fooling all the while;
So, when they ordered him to camp,
He went there with a smile.

Jim Dale is in the army now,
Lean legs, bum heart and all,
To fight like other drafted men
That got the country's call.

God, yes! Jim's heart may drop him
Dead
Or he may live to be
Shot all to pieces "over there"—
What odds to you or me?

By thunder! It's these odds to you!
If kids like Jim can go,
With smiles, to fight our wars for us
We can put up the dough.

If we can buy a bond or two
And don't, while Jim, poor cuss,
Goes smiling off to death or wounds—
Then hell's too good for us!

LIBERTY LOAN SUNDAY.

Sunday, Oct. 21, has been officially designated as Liberty Loan Sunday throughout the United States. Committees will arrange with clergymen of all denominations to preach Liberty Loan sermons on that date.

FARM BUREAU AGENTS CO-OPERATE.

Many Chairmen of County Liberty Loan Committees are finding their efforts to reach the farming community very materially helped through the co-operation of Farm Bureau Agents in the counties. It is urged that whenever such agents are assigned, the County Liberty Loan Committee get immediately in touch with these agents for the purpose of helping in the agricultural districts.

What a War Loan Is

A great war loan is simply the device by which we are able, with the least inconvenience and disruption of our national machinery, to lift whatever portion of it is needed from its ordinary work into the work of fighting. It does not represent, save partially, an actual transfer of cash; it is a credit operation, whereby subscribers to the loan turn over to the Government, for use in its war program for the general benefit, part of the credit machinery at their disposal, which they would otherwise have employed in procuring things for their individual benefit. Viewed in this way, the six or seven billions of war debt can fairly be compared to the $230,000,000,000 of productive wealth of the United States. It amounts only to a fraction of the income from that $230,000,000,000, and, consequently, even if it represented a total loss—which it does not by any means—it would be a loss that we might fairly expect to bear.

THE DAILY REMINDER

In The Day's News

Dr. Alexis Carrel, whose opinions on hospital standardization are to be laid before a notable conference of American surgeons meeting in Chicago today, is one of the world's most famous surgeons. A Frenchman by birth, Dr. Carrel is still in his thirties, although he owns a practice which is said to be the most lucrative in the world. Fortune came to him in disguise. He was for a number of years leading practitioner in a small French town, but the unmerited persecution he suffered from the pompous mayor caused him to leave the "Land of the Tricolor" and seek fame elsewhere. He landed in Canada an unknown man, but came to the United States, and attracted the attention of John D. Rockefeller, who engaged him for research work at the Rockefeller Institute and gave him the opportunity for the experiments which have made him world-famous. In 1912 Dr. Carrel was the recipient of the Noble prize for medicine. Early in the present war he went to France to engage in hospital work, returning only recently to help organize the United States Ambulance service.

Chicago, Ill.—"For about two years I suffered from a female trouble so I was unable to walk or do any of my own work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the news papers and determined to try it. It brought almost immediate relief. My weakness has entirely disappeared and I never had better health. I weigh 165 pounds and am as strong as a man. I think money is well spent which purchases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. J. O'BRYAN, 1765 Newport Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. OPTIMISM SHOWN OVER PROSPECTS OF LIBERTY LOAN Washington, October 18—Treasury officials were optimistic today over prospects that subscriptions to the Second Liberty Loan will reach the $5,000,000,000 mark. Their optimism was predicated on the latest official and unofficial returns, which are up to the close of business on October 16, showing approximately $1,500,000,000, or one-half the minimum quota of the Liberty Loan, had been subscribed today. Treasury officials estimated, on the face of unofficial reports from the twelve Federal Reserve Banks.

The returns were so satisfactory that officials declared that the $3,000,000,000 minimum set by Secretary McAdoo was practically certain to be obtained with the maximum of $5,000,000,000 possible.

SUGAR FAMINE IS IN SIGHT IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, October 18—With the market practically bare of Cuban cane sugar, the new beet crop not available here before December, half of the big refineries shut down and the others running only half time, New York is facing the most serious sugar famine in its history. Some stores have stopped selling sugar altogether and others are limiting the amount purchased by each customer. Prices as high as twelve cents a pound retail are quoted.

GERMAN SAILORS REVOLTING AGAIN

Amsterdam, October 18—A mutiny among German sailors at the Belgian port of Ostend who refused to go on board submarines, is reported by Belgisch Dagblad. The newspaper says an officer was thrown into the sea and that thirty mutineers were removed in handcuffs to Bruges.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Now a Member of National Chamber of Commerce—Many Benefits To Be Derived.

From now on the Marysville Chamber of Commerce will have a voice in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the most representative business organization in the country. According to a notification received by Secretary Dadds from Elliott H. Goodwin, of Washington, D. C., General Secretary of the National Chamber, the Marysville Chamber of Commerce has been formally elected to membership in the central body, which already numbers over 900 commercial organizations and represents upwards of 390,000 business men. Not only every state in the Union and our outlying possessions are represented, but the principal American Chambers of Commerce abroad.

Closely following its election to the National Chamber the Marysville Chamber of Commerce will appoint a National Councillor who will serve as the connecting link between this organization and the National Chamber. This is an office of consequence inasmuch as the Councillors, individually and as a body, act as advisors on the policies of the Chamber and have other important functions to perform.

Valuable Business Opinion

Hereafter when policies affecting our commerce are under discussion by the federal authorities, the Marysville Chamber of Commerce will have a chance to express itself inasmuch as one of the main purposes of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is to focus business sentiment. From time to time referenda are sent out by the National Chamber for the purpose of ascertaining for the benefit of Congress and the President, business opinion prevailing throughout the country on questions of immediate importance.

A Valuable Commercial Service

In fact, the Marysville Chamber of Commerce expects to secure much assistance from the National Chamber in many ways. It will receive a weekly General Bulletin which probably contains the freshest and most reliable news of its kind to be secured from any source. The information is along the line of commercial opportunities and of development in different federal bureaus and departments.

In addition to this there will be a Legislative Bulletin which follows the progress of all legislation introduced in Congress affecting business and commerce.

All members received regularly the official publications of the National Chamber, The Nation's Business, which from month to month contains a fund of information on business and economic subjects.

Local Organization Will Have Washington Representative

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States aims to make more available and more useful all business men the work of the various federal bureaus at Washington. The activities of the Consular Service, the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Science, the Bureau of Standards, the Census Bureau, the Bureau of Chemistry and many others are thus made available to the business community.

In addition to the privilege of membership included in the direct service as outlined above, members also have the privilege of utilizing the information Bureau of the Chamber maintained at the National Headquarters, to obtain information on matters of direct interest to them. This amounts virtually to the Marysville Chamber of Commerce having a special Washington representative.

INTER-SOUTHERN

Files Counter Suit Against Mason County Stockholders, Charging Malice—Denies Allegations in Action For Receiver.

Louisville, Ky., October 18—The Inter-Southern Life Insurance Company today filed its answer in the suit of several stockholders, filed Saturday, asking for a receiver, in which the company answers the charges made and enters a counter-claim for damages in the sum of $100,000. The claim for damages is based on the assertion that "the suit was filed with the malicious purpose of injuring the company as well as those connected with it, by causing a belief to spread among the public that the company is insolvent and is badly managed, thus impairing its credit and making it difficult to write new business and to hold business already on the books."

The plaintiffs in the original suit are made defendants in the claim for damages. They are S. A. Shanklin, Mrs. S. A. Shanklin, Agnes Shanklin and Mrs. V. C. Robb. All are residents of Marysville, the former home of Charles D. Pearce, formerly president of the Citizens National Life Insurance Company. The others named were stockholders of that company and received in exchange for their stock, stock in the Inter-Southern Insurance Company.

In the answer it is denied that the company is insolvent and that the capital stock is being impaired. It is also asserted that none of the parties to the suit approached, or in any manner entered a complaint against the conduct of the business to the officers or others identified with the company. It is also asserted that the records do not show Mrs. Robb as having been a stockholder of the Citizens National Life Insurance Company, or that she is a stockholder of the Inter-Southern Company.

It is asserted the company is in a thoroughly solvent condition; that it has assets of $4,500,000 and a surplus of $1,000,000 for the protection of its stockholders; that it is doing a good business and that at the close of business October 12, last Friday, it had cash in bank aggregating $295,321. It is asserted that the salaries of officers and employees of the home office for the past year aggregated $47,500. This, it is asserted, is as low as can be shown by any company doing a similar amount of business. It is also asserted the company has a clear title to the building.

MAN MISSING 30 YEARS

Dies at Beaumont, Tex.—Lucas Deha Stone Disappeared From His Home in 1887 and Was Thought Murdered.

Paris, Ky., October 17—Information received here by the authorities announcing the death in Beaumont, Tex., of Lucas Deha Stone, has cleared up a mystery of thirty years. In 1887, Stone, then a resident of Flat Rock, this county, disappeared from his farm one morning, and although a practically nation-wide search was made for him no trace of him was ever found, and it was generally believed he had been murdered and his body made away with. A telegram from the police at Beaumont asking for aid in locating Jane Stone and the death of Lucas Stone, was the first information his relatives had of him in the thirty years since his disappearance. He was a brother of James Stone and Mrs. Mary Goff, widow of Thomas Goff, who lived near North Middletown. The John Goff referred to in the communication from Beaumont was the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Mary Goff and has been dead for several years. Mary Goff, a brother of John Goff, now lives in North Middletown.
